

Money Matters

During these current times many people are suffering greatly with the lack of money within their bank accounts. They are suffering to the point that it is causing them great distress. This is a collective feeling which is growing and as such is having a knock on effect as to what it is being created. For it is creating a wave of dissatisfaction where people are wondering what their lives are about. Where they don't seem to be feeling much pleasure from the life that they are in.

It is this very energy which is causing the negative shift that you are currently experiencing and as such is bringing about change. For change is inevitable when many conscious minds are focussing on the same energy. Remember that energy is something that you create and as such the response from the universe can only be what it is you give out. Taking time therefore to step back and sit in the still for a while and to let go of the pain on how things have become is the only way to stop this spiral that is occurring.

The more and more people focus on the lack of money the more and more lack will occur. So if you want to begin to change things for yourself and others around, it is time to start to appreciate all the great things that you have and to let go of what you feel you do not have. To begin to smile at the simple things in life and to help lift yourselves from struggle and strife.

Know that better times are coming and that although things seem difficult now, it is only because this is what you are portraying to yourself and the world around you. For many they have much, yet they fail to see it this way. Life is about learning to laugh and to love and to have joy yet these very things are falling by the way side in exchange for glum faces and sad hearts. Remember that there is much light around you and if you choose to tap into it, it will lift and revive you. It will allow you to feel brighter and lighter inside and you will learn to see the world in a much different way.

So even if things do feel a little tight, bless what you do have and bless that you live in a warm home, with a nice bed, and food in your bellies, for there are those in this world who are far from this place. Who are struggling to feed their families once a week let alone 3 times a day. Know that you are truly blessed if you have someone with you who loves you dearly and appreciates who you are. For there are many who cry themselves to sleep every night feeling lonely, cold and rejected, even though they need not for the light is around them to support and love them at all times.

Money is energy and if you can begin to give even the little you may have a better feeling as you spend it, you will begin to attract in more. It is not here to cause you pain and suffering but to give you the opportunity to have more so that you can live the life that you would choose. The more you begin to see the world as a playground, as a place to have fun, the more you will begin to tap into the energy that is within you that will show you the talents that you have to create more of the money that you seek. Try doing something different and allowing yourself to smile even when paying money to the bank. Learn to just be and you will begin to feel free.
